Federal Power Commission suspends Rate Increase

The proposed 35% increase in rates, by Boston Edison, has been suspended. Protests against the proposed increase, by half a dozen municipalities, has paid off.

Included in the towns which protested were Reading, (the Reading Municipal Light) from which Wilmington gets its light and power.

The Reading Municipal Light had registered a protest when the proposed increase was first registered. The effective date of the increase was to be August 2nd.

Protests were also filed with Senators Kennedy and Brooke, and several of the Massachusetts Congressmen, asking them to intervene with the Federal Power Commission. Wilmington's George Hooper of the Light Study Committee was among those who so protested. The suspension granted by the Federal Power Commission is until January 1, 1973.

The FPC in its report stated that petitions to reject, and motions to intervene had been filed by both the Reading and Wakefield Light Departments, and by the towns of Norwood, Concord and Wellesley, and by the New England Power Company and Boston Gas.

In its findings the Federal Power Commission noted that 'the proposed increased rates and changes have not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful'.

It determined that a hearing would be necessary and proper, is due to be served on or before for the public interest, and it set January 17th. Rebuttal by Boston up a time schedule for such a hearing.

The suspension carries up to January 1 of next year. On or before January 3 the FPC staff is to serve its prepared testimony and exhibits. All prepared testimony of the intervenors (Reading Light, Wakefield Light, etc.) is due to be served on or before January 17th. Rebuttal by Boston is due on or before January 31.

Wilmington's Tax Rate set at $52

The tax rate of Wilmington was set at $52, Monday, by Wilmington's principal assessor, Anthony Krzminski.

The new tax rate is a combination of $29.88 for the support of the public schools and $22.12 for general government. Wilmington had an increase in costs, during the past year of $396,313.84, which was less than 4% of an increase over the figures of a year ago. The cost of living, at the same time, increased 5.5%.

The increase was greater for the support of schools. Last year the cost of schools was $27.97, and the cost of general government $22.28.

Among the factors that go into the tax rate this year is an agreement with the Municipal Light Department of Reading, after a dispute of eight years standing. The agreement resulted in a compromise on taxation of Light Department property during the past years.

Most of the additional value in Wilmington, for taxable property, is attributed to increases of industrial and commercial properties. The total added value is, $3,627,000 and the total property value of Wilmington has now been established at $129,126,100.

wilmington's artist-in-residence

JAMES E. VIOLA, JR., of 4 Fay Street Wilmington is one of the world's unique artists. His particular talent, it is to be believed, is not shared with any other artist.

Mr. Viola works in colored glass. First he designs his work, then he cuts glass to fit, and then he colors the glass, after which all is assembled into a mosaic of mixed colors.

It is now the Town Crier Tewksbury - Wilmington

The Town Crier of Wilmington expanded, this week, and became the Town Crier, Tewksbury - Wilmington.

As nearly everyone knows, the two towns have a common boundary, and have had one for nearly two hundred fifty years. And, while the people of Wilmington have had fair newspaper coverage, from the Town Crier, Tewksbury, with about 6,000 families, has had practically no weekly coverage. The Town Crier will attempt to fill the deficit with newsworthy and timely articles.

Robert Morris, of Revere, most recently employed by the Fall River News, is a new associate on the Town Crier staff. Mr. Morris is assigned to cover the Town of Tewksbury, and people of that town may expect to know him better. He may be reached by dialing 658-2346.

By co-incidence, his last name is the same as that of Wilmington's Town Manager, Sterling Morris, and the two men, when they met this week, took time to discuss any possible relationship. They are both of British extraction, but there the similarity ends. The two decided that, if there were any of their families who had been hung for the stealing of sheep, or other such crimes in Britain, it occurred on different trees.

Tewksbury Police nab Post Office Robbers

LIFE ISN'T ALL PAPERWORK: For Tewksbury patrolmen (l. to r.) Walter D. Jamieson and Paul K. Gearty, who caught two suspects in an attempted safecracking early Sunday.

Fast action by Tewksbury police resulted in the arrest of two of three men who allegedly tried to crack a safe in the Tewksbury Post Office Sunday at 2:05 am.

Patrolmen Walter D. Jamieson and Paul K. Gearty said they raced to the post office in a cruiser in response to a silent alarm. Approaching the building, Gearty turned off the headlights to prevent warning suspects, left Jamieson near the rear and parked in front of the post office. Jamieson found the lock to a boiler room removed and was about to enter when the door opened, two suspects saw him, shut the door and locked it from inside.

Gearty moved in to cover the right side of the building while Jamieson covered the left, and within moments cruisers from Billerica and Wilmington arrived, including Wilmington Sgt. George Shepard and patrolmen John Kearny and Anthony Langone.

The boiler room door swung open and two suspects stood in the doorway. "Don't shoot. We give up," they said, according to Jamieson.

The two suspects were identified as Lawrence E. Goldman, 31 of 192 Neponset Ave., Dorchester, and Ralph T. Anzalone, 29 of 106 Selden St., Dorchester.

After police arrested the men, Ptl. Tony Langone and a Wilmington police dog, Rosco, searched but found no one there. Jamieson said a drill, two pinch bars, an electric extension cord and a stillson wrench were found on the floor. He said a dial and handle had been removed from one of three safes in the post office.

A search of the area disclosed a car registered in Goldman's name parked in a used car lot a half mile from the building. Jamieson reported.

Jamieson said postal employee Frank Ryan arrived and secured the building, but a third suspect apparently entered the post office after everyone left and escaped with the tools used in the alleged attempt on the safe.

Goldman and Anzalone were charged in Lowell District Court Monday with breaking and entering, attempted larceny and possession of burglary instruments. Bail was set at $10,000 each and their case continued until August 8. Both men were held in the Billerica House of Correction in lieu of bail.

SWIMMING CLASS

THE POND AT CAMP FORTY ACRES: For the past three weeks, has been used almost daily by girls of the Camp Fire Girls of Greater Boston. A first group with 121 girls from Tewksbury to Revere, have finished their camping tour, and a second group, of 68 girls are now enjoying their turn. Miss Steph Pappas of Arlington is conducting a swim class, in the near foreground.

Shooting Death ends high speed Chase

A high speed car chase, involving police and two men suspected of committing an armed holdup of a drugstore in Billerica ended Wednesday at 4:20 pm with the accidental shooting death of one suspect by a Wilmington patrolman in Woburn. The chase reached speeds of 110 miles an hour, through narrow Wilmington streets, according to Wilmington police.

The dead man was identified by police as Stephen Walsh, 22, of 221 Albion Street, Wakefield. Walsh was killed when he threw Ptl. Arthur V. Lynch Jr. off balance, and Lynch's pistol discharged, police said.

Lt. A. John Imbimbo of the Wilmington police said a .25 caliber automatic was found in Walsh's right hand pocket, when he was searched after the shooting. "He was probably going for it" Imbimbo said, "when the shooting occurred".

The second suspect, identified as Stephen P. Donnelly, 23, of 48 Washington Street, Stoneham, was arrested at the scene of the shooting, near the Montvale Ave.

No speed limits for Silver Lake

An amendment to the By-Laws, voted in the last annual Town Meeting of Wilmington, imposed a speed limit on boats operating on Silver Lake. It was proposed by Bill MacKinnon of Moore Street, and his amendment was accepted overwhelmingly.

The By-Law Committee had not offered such a by-law as the members knew it could not be legally passed. But the temper of the meeting was shown by the enthusiasm with which the voters passed MacKinnon's amendment.

MacKinnon's amendment was shot down on July 20th by the Massachusetts Division of Marine and Recreational Vehicles, having its office at 64 Causeway Street, in Boston.

In a letter to the Assistant Town Clerk, John A. Davis, Assistant Director, said:

"Silver Lake is a great pond of the Commonwealth and as such should be open to motor boating as a title to great ponds comes under the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth. As a lake belonging to the Commonwealth it should be subject to multiple use by all citizens of the Commonwealth."

PAUL CRONIN CAMPAIGNS IN WILMINGTON

Paul Cronin, Republican congressional candidate in the Fifth District, has been campaigning in Wilmington this past week meeting area residents.

Cronin appeared at a number of shopping centers and residential areas introducing himself and explaining his position on the many issues that concern the district.

"I was very much impressed with the interest people have in this campaign and their detailed knowledge of the various issues," said Cronin.

"They showed particular concern with the economy and unemployment. I explained that these issues were very much part of my campaign."

Cronin visited a number of newspapers talking to editors and reporters. He also renewed acquaintances with people he met and worked with while serving as chief assistant to former Congressman F. Bradford Morse.

exit on the southbound lane of Route 93.

The chase began in Billerica at 4:05 pm when the Billerica police radioed that two men, armed with a pistol and knife, had robbed the Village Apothecary at 852 Boston Road, Billerica, and had escaped with money and a quantity of narcotics. The men were described as escaping down Cook Street, which runs from Pinehurst to Wilmington, in a black and white Plymouth.

Imbimbo says that minutes later Wilmington Car 31, with Lynch driving and Patrolman Fred Brown acting as observer, saw a black 1965 Plymouth, with two occupants, on Hopkins Street. It turned right, onto Shawshen Avenue.

Lynch and Brown radioed to Sgt. George Shepard, who was in an unmarked patrol car. They noted, among other things, that the car was all black, and not black and white. Shepard said he would set up a roadblock at the corner of Shawshen Avenue and Canal Street.

Lynch and Brown moved in, but the Plymouth picked up speed and the chase was on. Seconds later the Plymouth sliced to the left of Shepard's car, avoiding the roadblock, with Lynch and Brown still in pursuit.

Shepard was soon in the chase. So was Ptl. Bernard Nally in Car 32, and Ptl. Charles Dolan in his own (private) car. Also in the chase were police cars from Burlington and Billerica.

The chase went down Shawshen Avenue to Clark street, then to Church street, back onto Main, and along Lowell street onto the southbound lane of Route 93.

The heavy afternoon traffic on the highway slowed the suspect's car as it swerved in and out of the lanes, narrowly pursued by Brown and Lynch.

Finally the two policemen were able to get their patrol car beside the suspect's Plymouth. With guns drawn they ordered the two men to pull to the side of the road, get out of their car, and on their respective sides, and spreadeagle themselves on the ground.

The suspects stopped their car 100 yards of the Montvale exit and lay down beside the car, at 4:20. Lynch moved in on Walsh who was lying on the ground, though not spreadeagled, while Brown covered Donnelly, who had followed orders exactly.

Lynch stood with one leg on each side of Walsh, and was prepared to handcuff Walsh, with one hand, while covering him with his pistol in the other.

Then, according to Lt. Imbimbo, Walsh suddenly spread his legs and started to roll over. Lynch was thrown off balance, and his pistol discharged, and Walsh was dead.

Donnelly, after arrest, was taken to the Billerica Police Station.

Molding. These days it is seldom used in homes, but in bygone times the home without molding was not a finished home. Molding went between every wall and every ceiling, sometimes it was painted to match the wall or the ceiling and sometimes stained to match the woodwork. Molding went up and down the stairways and was used to finish every stair tread. It was used around windows for a touch that was both decorative and extra insurance against inclement weather.

Why not be the first one on your block to try molding in a new style? Building or remodeling? First visit Sweeney Home Courtesy Center, 615 Main St., 658-2061. We have over 150 sheets of paneling on display by famous brands like Weldwood, Georgia Pacific and Abitibi. Free Delivery service and Bank Americard and Master Charge are honored. Hours: 8 am to 5 pm daily and 8 am to 9 pm Fridays.

Congenital defects, especially in the heart of the circulatory system, occur in only a very small percentage of children.

The causes of these defects are many times unknown. It is important, however, for an expectant mother to guard herself against such exposures as the exposure to German measles.

Mothers should also guard against contracting colds. Protecting the health of the mother during pregnancy protects the unborn child as well.

Hospital Fund Notes
The officers and directors of the Wilmington Regional Hospital Building Fund Committee extend their sincere sympathy to the family of the late Estelle Shelley.

Mrs. Shelley was an ardent worker for the Hospital Building Fund as was evidenced by the tremendous success of the organ recital by Ken Wilson at the high school when she and Eileen DeGraffenreid, Betty Andrews and Marion Braham managed the concert from start to finish. Her passing is a great loss to the community.

Ray McManara and Ray York are still taking calls and looking for merchandise for the mammoth auction and rummage sale to be held at the McManara Tire Co., on Sunday, September 10th.

TEWKSBURY YOUTHS INJURED

Two Tewksbury youths were injured in an apparent motorcycle accident near Baldwin Road Saturday night.

Pre-Schoolers tour Tewksbury

Pre-schoolers in Tewksbury learned about life in the perilous and precarious on a field trip around town Wednesday morning. Groups from the North Street, Heathbrook, Leola F. Dewing and Shawheen schools saw the action side of life at the town airport, police and fire stations. They also learned how to broaden their world on the printed page in a tour of the town library.

The tour is the third of four

ANNE BALSAR WAS FLOWN TO SPAIN

Airforce Sergeant James F. Balsar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Balsar of Middlesex Avenue was critically injured about ten days ago in an accident in Madrid, Spain. An automobile without lights struck him, at night, causing both legs to be fractured below the knee, one of the fractures being compound, and causing concussion of the skull. He was taken to an American hospital.

The slogan of the US Air Force which says "The Air Force takes care of its Own" might well be the subsequent story.

Jimmy is married to the former Anne Robertie of Woburn Street, Wilmington. Both Mrs. Robertie and Mrs. Balsar went down to the apartment Sgt. and Mrs. Balsar have, near Maguire Air Force Base, and Mrs. James Balsar (Anne) was flown to Spain by the Air Force.

The surgeon who was attending Jimmy, the story goes, said he would probably recover quicker if he could see his wife. The Air Force then gave her a V.I.P. status, a staff sergeant as an escort, and flew her to Spain, taking care of all details.

After Jimmy had seen Anne, the story goes, there was an immediate improvement. It is expected that he will be hospitalized in Spain for about four weeks.

Wilmington since late in May, and these volunteers, under the direction of Wilmington Coordinator Roy Mallett, have done extensive leafletting and canvassing of private homes and shopping centers in the area. In addition, DiFrancia himself has been actively campaigning in Wilmington, and has been hosted at several coffee hours in town.

In commenting on Roy Mallett's role as Wilmington Coordinator, DiFrancia states: "I'm extremely optimistic about the results we hope to get in Wilmington due to the enthusiasm of Roy and his volunteers. I know that with our local effort under his leadership my candidacy in the Wilmington area has been strengthened significantly."

Coordinator Mallett has issued a cordial invitation to all area residents to visit the opening of the headquarters, and he urges anyone who wants to help send Tony DiFrancia to Congress to get in touch with him at 13 Carter Lane, Wilmington, or by telephoning 657-7937.

A Half-Mile Shriek

SOLID STATE ELECTRONICS: In North Wilmington, is the firm that has erected all the roadside alarms, along Route 495, now familiar to thousands of motorists.

The company, this week, announced a new type of alarm, one that alerts people when a home is broken into.

Ken Astor of Solid State demonstrates how the device hangs over a door. When the door is opened an electronic box, which can be located half a mile away, starts shrieking.

A home may be protected for less than $500 with the new device. Selling arrangements have not yet been completed.

June Foley is exploring ghost towns of the West

Miss June Foley of Birchwood Road is having the time of her life, as the Girl Scout designee from the Merrimac River area to visit the old ghost towns of Colorado. She left last Sunday for a period of over two weeks.

The visit is called "Recall the Riches - Restore the Ruins". June is one of eighty participants from Girl Scout organizations all over the United States.

The girls will set up a camp site near one of the ghost towns of Colorado, and will assist in the restoration of the town, as a project.

June is representing the Baldwin Neighborhood Girl Scout organization for Wilmington and Tewksbury.

Tewksbury plagued by False Alarms

Tewksbury Fire Chief William A. Chandler today warned of possible tragedies that could occur because of a rash of false alarms in recent weeks.

Chandler said dozens of firefighters are injured or killed every year in answering false alarms in Massachusetts alone. "We can count ourselves lucky our town hasn't had such a tragedy yet," he said.

The chief warned against the possibility that fire apparatus might someday answer a false alarm on one end of town and be unavailable if a major fire broke out in another area.

"The kids don't think of these things when they pull an alarm," he said. "All they know is that it is a boring summer day and they would like to see something happen."

Chandler noted the state has stiff penalties prescribed for anyone calling a false alarm, and said he hoped false alarms would stop coming in before someone responsible for them finds himself in serious legal trouble.

Site near Camp Forty Acres named for Andover Dump

For some months past there has been a series of meetings in Andover, with concurrent surveys, for the purpose of choosing a new site for the Town Dump. The Town of Andover is under orders from the State Board of Health to close its town dump and choose a new site.

Two possible sites have been chosen, one in the Ballardvale part of Andover, in an industrial district and near to both Wilmington and Tewksbury; and the other off Woburn Street, Andover, which is the same road as Andover Street, Wilmington. The second site is just north of, and abuts, Camp Forty Acres, well known Boy Scout Camp.

The second site, north of Camp Forty Acres, has been chosen by the Andover Selectmen to be the site for the future Town Dump. It is a former gravel pit, which was operated by the Cronin Brothers, and left by then in a nicely graded and seeded condition. Since then it has been the site of motorcycle parties.

Boy Scout officials have been watching the choosing process in Andover, worrying over a possible change of conditions at the camp site. The actual choice of a new dump site is to be made later, in an Andover Town Meeting, by the voters, or alternatively by the Andover Board of Health.

TEWKSBURY POLICE TO MEET WITH SELECTMEN

Tewksbury Police Chief John F. Sullivan and officers of his department will discuss police operations with the Board of Selectmen Tuesday night in Town Hall at 8.

Other matters on the selectmen's busy summer schedule are:

Signing of the town's renegotiated 1972 contract with the Firefighters Association. Presentation of a state award to Civil Defense Director Warren Ray for his outstanding service.

Recognition of John Shimkus of 328 Shawheen St., who retired recently after 20 years as a school crossing guard.

Discussion with officers of the North Meadow Tennis Club planned for construction on Carter Street.

Revaluation going smoothly in Tewksbury

Although Tewksbury is undergoing its first revaluation in history, appraisers have found that the residents are taking it in stride, and co-operating well with them.

Bernard F. Magane of Whipple - Magane - Darcy Inc., revaluing property in Tewksbury under a $79,500 contract to the town, told the Town Crier: "The people have really been cooperative. We have had only one person tell one of our men to come back and make another appointment."

The firm received the contract June 1 and expects the job to take a year, when the town will have a tax base founded on 100 percent valuation.

Headquartered at 28 Florence Street in Andover, Whipple - Magane - Darcy has already completed or is completing revaluation in 70 other towns and cities in this state, New Hampshire, Maine and Rhode Island. Among these are Andover, Burlington and Lawrence.

Magane's staff spent six weeks checking land and real estate sales in Tewksbury and designing a property records card used in determining land, home and business property values. Inspections of property actually began two weeks ago.

"By July 28 we had inspected about 400 homes and businesses in the north and northeast part of town, or about five percent of the estimated total," said Magane.

He said it was too early to estimate at what percentage of real value homes had been assessed previously.

Streets already inspected in the north section include Overlook Drive, Leighton Lane, Wilton Drive, Bonnie Lane, Heather Row, Cardigan Road and Pennekook. Meredith and Lancaster Streets. In the northeast section they include Oakcart, Cartpath, Corbett, Kensington, Quincy and part of East Street.

Magane said late this week and early next his men will visit Livingston, North, Northgate, Marion and Lewis streets.

During these inspections, he said, his appraisers will go through homes and buildings listing their physical makeup, condition, age and renovation. Other work used in determining valuations includes talks with lumber dealers, contractors and others to determine land, material, construction and replacement costs.

"Land values are established based on zoning, locality and desirability of neighborhoods," he said. "Schedules are set up for land values and replacement costs."

CAUTION: CHECK THOSE MOTOR VEHICLE TAX BILLS

The Board of Assessors has issued a caution notice regarding 1971 Motor Vehicles bills which have been mailed recently. Several errors have been brought to the attention of the Assessors regarding duplication of bills received in the past.

Anyone who has received a 1971 bill recently is asked to check it thoroughly as an abatement may be due either through duplication or transfer of vehicle.

The Assessors office will make any adjustment or abatement that may be required to correct any errors for the next 30 days.

The first three commitments of 1972 excise tax bills have been mailed and again there are duplications. The Assessors are making every effort to reject those bills which are in error, but advise that the taxpayers check the registration date, year and make of vehicle to make sure it is correct.

The year which appears in the upper right hand corner is the taxable year.

The local Board of Assessors have nothing to do with the preparation of Motor Vehicle tax bills as this is done by the Registry of Motor Vehicles and the Department of Corporations and Taxation.

The Assessors ask for your cooperation in this matter and if a bill appears to be incorrect, please do not ignore it. Call the Assessors Office.

SPOKANE GIRL TO WED WILLIAM LOWELL

Mrs. Philip Green of Spokane, Washington announces the engagement of her daughter, Janet to William R. Lowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lowell of Carolyn Rd., Wilmington.

Miss Green is a Lewis and Clark graduate. William is a graduate of Wilmington High School and was a Staff Sgt. after completing four years with the US Air Force.

Magane said once that is done office workers correlate the information. This ends in establishment of cards listing values for each piece of property.

Senior appraisers then visit all homes, businesses and pieces of property again, though only viewing the property from outside. They verify or alter the cards for each piece of property.

"The cards are then brought back to the office and checked once more to insure no mathematical mistakes have been made," said Magane.

"Taxpayers who disagree with our findings can then contact the Assessor's office in Town Hall and we will meet with them to discuss their objections," he said.

Magane stressed, however, his firm was contracted to determine the just value of property only, and hardship cases do not fall under its jurisdiction.

Once a taxpayer has received a tax bill, Magane explained, he can appeal to the Board of Assessors and file for an abatement. He also can appeal to the state Appellate Tax Board in Boston or the County Commissioners.

Although many town residents might be nervous about how revaluation will touch their wallet, Magane reminded them, "Once it is completed, people will be paying their fair share of the town costs, no more, no less."
